

Smoke Meshine

— by theSC & [dã-lespri] —

— Verse 1

The last war will be fought between Schrodinger's cat and Pavlov's dog. He said.

Don't trip over what's behind you, Man : I Travel and I tell no one,
I live a true love story, tell no one, I live happily and I tell no one — 'cause people ruin all the beautiful things.

— Chorus 1

Every machine is a smoke machine if you operate it long enough
Every machine is a smoke machine if you operate it long enough

— Verse 2

Perhaps when we find ourselves wanting everything,
It is because we're dangerously close to wanting nothing.
Everyone in your life will have a last day with you,
And you don't even know when it will be, do you ?

— Chorus 2

Every machine is a smoke machine if you operate it long enough
Every machine is a smoke machine if you operate it wrong enough

— Verse 3

I tried to love less but it hurts just as much.
Does life smoke after it screws me ?
Comforting others with words you wish to hear.
Hurry the heck up but wait and see.
It's like looking both ways before you cross the street,

And then get hit :

by a motherflippin' airplane.

Every machine is a smoke machine if you operate it long enough
Every machine is a smoke machine if you operate it long enough
Every machine is a smoke machine if you operate it long enough
Every machine is a smoke machine if you operate it wrong enough

— Verse 4

The one thing you should always remember is that I'm not you,
Boiling potatoes makes them softer, but my eggs get tough.
A lot will make sense after that and sometimes, it's not me it's you.
I don't hold grudges, I remember facts – and with that I'm out.

— Coda

Every machine is a smoke machine if you operate it long enough
Every machine is a smoke machine if you operate it wrong enough
